What do Pictures Want?

What do Pictures Want?

“What pictures want, then, is not to be interpreted, decoded, worshipped, smashed, exposed, or demystified by their beholders, or to enthrall their beholders. They may not even want to be granted subjectivity or personhood by well-meaning commentators who think that humanness is the greatest compliment they could pay to pictures. The desires of pictures may be inhuman or nonhuman. What pictures want in the last instance, then, is simply to be asked what they want, with the understanding that the answer may well be, nothing at all.”

—w.j.t. mitchell, “The Lives and Love of Images.”

“Sebagai karya seni rupa, gambar-gambar menunjukkan pada kita tanda-tanda ekspresi; sebagai ekspresi seni, gambar mengecoh pikiran kita mengenai arti-arti yang ditunjukkannya.”

—Rizki A. Zaelani | kurator

Andry Boy Kurniawan

Andry Kurniawan is an Indonesian Contemporary artist based in Jogja. Inspired by the larger than life characters that shape our culture, real or imagined doesn't matter, most of them have bulbous heads and small seedy eyes, living inside his paintings.

His Signature vibrant colors, air brushed effect, and setting as varied as vintage Indonesian landscape to a utopian outer space take us on a never-ending joyride to the past, and then to the future, and back again. Gelatinos and shiny items like jelly gummies and gem stone are commonly seen in Boy's art, and we love how they reflect the surrounding light

Arief Witjaksana

Witjk or Arief Witjaksana, the creator and illustrator of Superlative Secret Society. An 11.111 collectible NFT inspired by personal traits. Has been creating artwork since 2007, when he was studying in college, majoring in Visual Communication and Design at Trisakti University. Inspired by well-known maestros such as Picasso, Amedeo Modigliani, Basquiat, Salvador Dali, and Paul Clay which pretty much unconsciously affected his art style and identity.

Doodling became his first visual style to easily manifest and pour his thoughts. His difficulties while learning anatomical figures, and shape compositions allow him to find the style that suits his preference. He turned the challenge into an opportunity, an opportunity to find his own style. He then developed the style of connecting the lines without a disconnection between lines.

He then developed the style of 'connecting the lines without a disconnection between lines' to represent every possibility in life that constantly collides. His NFT journey starts in June 2021, selling his artworks at Hic Et Nunc (Tezos Blockchain) as a start. Then he went to the Foundation, Ethereum Blockchain, and created several collections in OpenSea. A month later, he met the other person who helped him establish the Superlative Secret Society.
